

Writing Instructions: How-To Procedures

Name: _____

Date: _____

Remember when writing instructions:

- Use imperative verbs (command words) such as: cut, mix, place, fold, pour, press
- Use time connectives to show order: first, next, then, after that, finally
- Be clear and specific so anyone can follow your steps
- Number your steps in order

Part A: Identifying Good Instructions

Read these two sets of instructions. Circle which one is better written and explain why below.

Version 1:

You make a sandwich. Get some bread and put stuff on it. Then eat it.

Version 2:

First, take two slices of bread. Next, spread butter on one side of each slice. Then, add your filling. Finally, place the slices together.

The better version is: _____ because: _____

Part B: Write Your Own Instructions

Choose ONE task from the list below and write clear, step-by-step instructions:

- How to make a paper aeroplane
- How to wrap a present
- How to make a hot drink
- How to set up a simple board game
